WorkflowOne Opens New Facility in Cranbury, New Jersey

Growth Adds Digital, Wide-Format Printing, Bindery, Kitting and Mailing Capabilities

Dayton, Ohio, October 21, 2010— WorkflowOne, a leading provider of print management, marketing and distribution services, today announced that the company has opened a production and distribution facility in Cranbury, New Jersey. The additional facility adds to the company's capabilities in the areas of integrated digital printing, bindery, kitting, distribution and mailing services allowing WorkflowOne's clients to better streamline and manage their customer communications. The new Cranbury facility is nearly 200,000 square feet, managed by a state of the art Warehouse Management Systems (WMS) and Hagan Manufacturing software. In addition, the Cranbury facility will offer wide-format printing capabilities in the spring of 2011.

“While the economy has been slow to recover, we are seeing signs that companies are once again investing in marketing and sales,” said Ernest Miller, Executive Vice President of Operations. “In addition, the company has seen a steady renewal of long-term contracts from many of our enterprise customers, including some of the largest names in the financial, manufacturing, retail, healthcare and telecommunications industries as well as in the non-profit sector.”

WorkflowOne will also be adding additional capabilities and services at their Atlanta, Georgia, Columbus, Ohio, Ontario, California, Livermore, California, and Timonium, Maryland facilities including digital color, digital labels, variable data and mail processing, complementing their existing portfolio of digital solutions that include transactional printing, Print-On-Demand (POD), targeted marketing and e-services.
